LAST FRIDAY, Vida Blue of the Oakland A's made a pre-Christmas visit to the patients at Children's. For three solid hours, he went from bed to bed, chatting with the patients and their families and signing personalized autographs for brothers, fathers, neighbors, friends, staff members (who simply went out of their skulls over the handsome star) and of course, the children. A little girl, suffering from a recurrence of throat cancer, cried out in her husky voice, "Is it really, really him? I've never seen a live baseball player before!" Vida gave her two slips on which he signed his name with messages. The second was for her brother. Two hours later,

Police Chief Issues Warning Albany Men Named By Mayors' Conference

Since we are well into the Christmas shopping season we would like to offer a few reminders to try and thwart the would-be criminal from having a successful season.

The purse snatch artist is still about and preys on lone female shoppers walking to and from a shopping place. It is suggested that ladies carry a small type purse that can be held close to the body or even tucked inside coats or sweaters and kept out of the view of a purse snatcher. If carrying a purse, it would be best to use the type with a carrying strap and carried with the arm through the loop.

When walking along be aware of persons walking toward you or across the street from you. The purse snatcher depends on the element of surprise to go around a victim and come from behind to grab the purse. Also be alert to individuals driving in a vehicle at slow speed. They will drive past the victim and drop off the person that will attempt to grab the purse. If you are aware of their position it is possible you can take evasive action by stepping aside or in front of a pole, thus eliminating a target as the purse snatcher runs up on you.

Albany Mayor Lewis M. Howell and Administrative Assistant James B. Turner received appointments at the December meeting of Alameda County Mayors' Conference in San Leandro last Wednesday night.

The mayors unanimously re-named Turner as their appointee on the Transit Coordinating committee of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission. The committee will advise MTC in such areas as coordinating transit districts, working with AC Transit, BART, municipal buses, bus stops, shelters and shuttle services. Eventually, it will deal directly with parking restrictions, if lawmakers pass the disputed measure, and fuel allocations.

Mayor Howell was named, together with Mayor James Balentine of Livermore and Mayor Terry LaCroix, Jr., of Alameda, to the conference nominating committee for the Local Agency Formation Commission.

It was the traditional night to honor state legislators. Among those attending were State Senators Nicholas Petris and John Holmdahl and Assemblyman William Lockyear.

Senator Holmdahl said Washington has created a monster in the parking surcharge. He warned that the Agency is still there; it has only been slowed down.

"The worst is yet to come," he said, urging mayors to watch activities closely and to "stand up and yell" when it gets out of line.

He said he is disturbed over the PG&E hearings before the Public Utilities commission. PG&E, he said, is proposing to turn off electricity in selected areas in a "rolling blackout."

"What would happen in any community if this happens any day?" he asked. "What about

Open Space Public Hearing Closed: Decision Dec. 26

By DOROTHY LARIMER

Following an hour-long continued public hearing on the Open Space portion of the Albany General Plan, City Councilmen voted to postpone until Dec. 26 the actual vote on adoption.

Although it was the last shopping week before Christmas, the Chamber was about three-fourths full Monday night.

First to speak was Joan Lamphier of Duncan and Jones, who explained changes in the open space map, indicating dark green areas are public open space and light green is used to designate areas with special views, access to the shoreline, etc., which the City Council might like to preserve on Albany Hill and along the shoreline.

She suggested an amendment to prohibit construction within 100 feet of the high tide mark and keep it as open space as cess to the shoreline. The top of Albany Hill, she said, is complicated because the city does not have the financial reserves to acquire it at this time. It should be kept open, she stressed. This could be done through an amendment specifying the

Greetings from the Mayor of Albany

"Glistening trees, shiny bulbs, the hurry and scurry of all those around us, are a reminder that the Holiday season has again arrived. Too soon after the holidays, we forget the love and brotherhood shared during these happy days; with a little effort by each of us, these two important factors can become an important part of our everyday life. A kind word, a smile, a helping hand to those less fortunate than ourselves, can make this a better world to live in.

My wish for each and everyone of you is a joyous Christmas, and a prosperous and joyous New Year for you and your loved ones."

March of Dimes Poster Child Shares Family Fun and Chores

By DAN GILLMOR

"Scotty was a month old when we brought him home from the hospital," Monta Hafen recalls, "and it was really hard not to overprotect him."

That was five years ago, and Scott, who is Monta and Gary Hafen's fifth child, was just leaving to go down the block from their modest ranch house in North Las Vegas, Nev. That may not sound unusual, unless you are aware that Scott was born with crippling birth defects, hydrocephalus (water on the brain), and spina bifida (open spine).

The first defect has been corrected by surgery. The second is painfully evident. Scott is paralyzed from the waist down and has to use braces and crutches to get around.

"It was hard at first," his mother says, "but we finally got hold of ourselves. Life had to go on. We made ourselves be less protective."

"We don't treat him as an invalid in any way. We expect things from him, and he does them. If he makes a mess with his toys, he has to pick them up and put them away in his toy box."

Of course, with four older brothers and sisters, he gets a bit spoiled, no matter what Gary and I do. But we figure that's not so bad. After all, they only do what they want to do. We don't expect them to take care of Scotty to any greater extent than they would naturally take care of the littlest one in the family."

Scott's next older brother, Bret, has done a lot of that. He is only a year older than Scott, but Mrs. Hafen has encouraged the brotherly relationship without interfering with it.

"Bret puts him in his wagon and hauls him all over the neighborhood," she says, laughing fondly. "With just a little bit of watching along the way, that's how things have gone along."

Travel Plans

Bret won't be able to go along next month when, as 1974 National Poster Child for the March of Dimes, Scott will tour the country. He will represent the 250,000 or so American children born every year with birth defects.

Contributions to the March of Dimes are allocated to research, medical service programs, and educational efforts in the fight to prevent birth defects and to improve the quality of life at birth.

Mrs. Hafen is looking forward to taking Scott on the trip, even though they will be quite strenuous. "I feel that my children are responsible enough to carry on just as always. We have everything well under control."

"And Scott just loves to travel! I look forward to the feeling of success that he will get out of it. I've already seen going around the state as Nevada Poster Child. He just seems to be more on top of the situation. He feels more like an equal of other children."

"You know how it is; he has something to talk about now. Something that he did that they haven't done. His friends get to run and jump and play, and Scotty can't. But now he gets to fly all over and meet famous people."

Even though there may be a bit of a "sitter" problem, Mrs. Hafen is not worried. Scott's father, a Las Vegas school principal, will be home, except for one or two trips when he will accompany his wife and son.

Mrs. Hafen is confident that Diane, 9, Sandra, 10, and Brad, 13, can handle things. "It's clear that blue-eyed Sandra will cover the kitchen. She is a self-proclaimed tacos cook of distinction."

"Just get hamburger and cheese and onions," she advises. "Then grate the cheese and cut the onions and then do the tortillas."

Presto! Tacos! It's simple, isn't it?

Asked how to make tortillas, Sandra explained: "Oh, you don't make them. You just buy them frozen and then you fry them."

You see. It really is very simple to make tacos.

Carol Keck and Gilbert Meyer Are United In Ecumenical Ceremony

An ecumenical wedding ceremony united in marriage Carol Marie Keck and Gilbert Michael Meyer at Trinity United Methodist Church in Berkeley.

The early summer services were conducted by Reverend Douglas Henderson of El Sobrante United Methodist Church and Father Terence Loughran, our Lady of the Rosary Church in Palo Alto.

Carol was given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lee Keck of Albany. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Meyer, of San Leandro.

Carol wore a princess gown of white taffeta overlaid with silk net appliqued with flowers of Venice Lace. Her veil, a full length Mantilla of silk net, was bordered with flowers and leaves of Venice Lace. The bridal bouquet was white rosebuds, stephanotis, and white orchids. She carried an heirloom handkerchief from her great grandmother's trousseau and a sprig of orange blossoms from her grandmother's bridal head-dress.

Mrs. James Honer of Phoenix, Arizona, twin sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Maid of honor was Miss Josine Kister of Larkspur. Mrs. Gary Lee Keck of San Jose, Mrs. Michael Dohhan of Sacramento and Miss Mary Ann Henderson served as bridesmaids. Each wore a floor length princess gown of sky blue dotted swiss and carried matching bouquets of pink rosebuds, yellow tulips, blue iris and yellow marguerites. Each wore a tiara wreath of the same flowers.

Little Valerie Christine Smith, cousin of the bride was flower girl and wore a long dress of blue dotted swiss with a white eyelet pinafore and carried a bouquet of pink, blue and yellow flowers with a matching wreath in her hair. Kenneth Honer, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Charles Golden of Mountain View was best man. Ushers were Gary Saso of San Leandro, Danny Onerato of San Rafael, Gary L. Keck of San Jose, and Kevin W. Keck of Davis. Alumni House on the U.C. Campus was the setting for the reception and buffet supper. Both bride and groom are graduates of the University and hold Masters Degrees in Business Administration.

Following a honeymoon in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, the young couple are at home in Los Angeles, where Carol is employed as a Senior Acquisitions Analyst and Mike is a Portfolio Manager for a Mortgage Financing Company.

YMCA Suggestions For Christmas

Christmas time is here again and the Berkeley-Albany Young Men's Christian Association has issued suggestions which bring the holiday's spirit to residents and the YMCA.

December special Holiday rates for new members are now in effect, and make nice gifts. The Y is operating a tree lot at the corner of University and McGee Avenues, and proceeds will sponsor children for camp.

Gifts to help the Y continue its programs are especially appropriate during this time of giving. A monetary donation is always appreciated, as is time donated as a Y volunteer. The Lions Youth and Community Activity Fund ticket is on sale, and 75 percent of the $1.00 price goes toward Y programs.

Those few Christmas related suggestions will benefit the YMCA and also the community it serves.

Harold said his daughter, Tina; her husband, Larry Lotspeich, and their dog, Rummy, made $60 for the March of Dimes by walking 20 miles. Only $15 was earmarked for Tina and Larry. All the rest was on the dog!

SOMETIMES you CAN fight City Hall. Gloria Clark complained about her weed-clearing bill at the Council meeting a couple of weeks ago. Good thing she did, too. Administrative Officer Jim Turner reports she had been charged for clearing four lots instead of the two she owned, so the bill was twice what it should have been.

SPEAKING OF CITY HALL, they're taking steps to cut down use of energy. The big flag is not up now because it had to be illuminated all night. They're trying to ease the thermostats downward, entry hall lights are out, there is no ornamental lighting on the building, one-third of the Council chamber is dark during meetings and there is no heat. (Except for that generated by those in the chambers and sometimes that can get dogged hot!) PG&E is planning to cut hours of street lighting, but Jim Turner says they will try to keep them lighted until midnight. He said people won't use public transportation if streets are dark and that is another goal—to encourage people to ride buses, BART etc.

GEORGE SILLIMAN, a BART director, said he wouldn't be surprised if the energy crisis prompts BART to run nights and weekends.

GLADYS ELLERBUSCH of Ordway Street quite possibly saved the lives of her daughter-in-law and three grandchildren one recent morning. About 8 a.m., she received a call from her daughter-in-law, Theresa, who said she had a bad headache and kept passing out. Gladys called the Albany Fire Department who rushed to the home, gave them oxygen and took them to Herrick Emergency. Soot had gotten into the furnace and the family was almost asphyxiated. Bet Karen, 7; Eric, 5, and Diana, 2½, will have a special gift for Grandma under the tree this Christmas.

haven't thought of Myrle and Verna since Albany's big flap with ACLU some years ago over the creche at Solano and Key Route Blvd. ACLU was dead set against it, but the citizens were up in arms and a group of volunteers finally set up the manger scene themselves, thereby assuring that public tax money would not be spent as it would have if city employees had performed the task. I remember writing an editorial entitled "Merry Santa Clausmas" when it seemed the Civil Liberties group might prevail. Myrle and Verna were particularly supportive, kept dropping in to discuss developments and finally put up a lively manger scene in their shop window to show the world how they felt about it. They were very close. When Verna had her stroke, Myrle carried on alone for a while, finally sold the shop so he could spend more time with her. They were fine people.

articles in cars, place them in the trunk rather than on the seats, to keep them out of sight and thus eliminating the opportunity of theft. When unloading your car in front of your home do not leave doors or trunks standing open with articles in full view when you are in the house. It only takes a thief seconds to grab articles and run.

It is also asked that you continue to report persons and vehicles wandering about in your neighborhood that are unknown to you or suspect in any way. The officers do not mind checking any and all persons out and this alert by citizens has proven valuable in the past in assisting the Police Department in suppressing crime, no matter what form it may be.

Luncheon Held By Camp Fire Council

The Codornices District of the Grizzly Peak Council of Camp Fire Girls held its annual Leaders' Luncheon recently at Epworth Methodist Church in Berkeley.

Honored at the occasion were the new Blue Bird, Camp Fire, Discovery Club, and Horizon Club leaders in the District, which includes Albany, Berkeley, Kensington, and part of El Cerrito. Leaders were welcomed by District Chairman Mrs. Lee Seidell.

The District Committee, which hosted the luncheon, is responsible for leader and girl recruitment within the District, training and workshops for leaders, and special program events. Scheduled for the spring are the "Whoop-de-Do," a creative fair planned and carried out by the girls, and the annual Council Fire.

Many girls are waiting to be in Blue Bird and Camp Fire groups, but there aren't enough leaders. Men or women, 18

Scotchey Apple Crisp

This is one way to treat your family (and perhaps friends) to a change of pace dessert when you're counting the pennies just a little bit.

Filled with canned pie-sliced apples and Nestlé's Butterscotch Morsels, the pudding is a tasty dessert for these fall days ahead.

Scotchey Apple Crisp

1 20-oz. can pie-sliced apples, drained
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) Nestlé's Butterscotch Morsels
1 cup quick uncooked oats
½ cup butter

Preheat oven to 375°F. Arrange apple slices in bottom of 1½ qt. baking dish. Sprinkle lemon juice over apples. Heat over hot (not boiling) water butterscotch morsels, oats, and butter until morsels melt and mixture is well-blended. Spoon over apple slices. Bake 375°F. Time: 25 minutes. Serve warm topped with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Open Space Public Hearing Closed: Decision Dec. 26

from the tip of Taft street through to Hillside no rooftop would be allowed that would obstruct the view. Finally, under potential open space is the Albany Isles plan, which the city does intend to implement when all legal difficulties are solved.

Dario Meniketti asked if there could be high rises below the portion of Albany Hill recently given to the city by Interstate General Administration Officer James B. Turner said most of the property is zoned R-1 with a small portion near Pierce street zoned R-3.

Ms. Lamphier continued explaining changes. She said there is the Middle School park site which the city (schools) will purchase. The proposed space near Tevlin park has been eliminated because the city does not have the money to purchase it.

Turner added that whether land below the open space on Albany Hill is zoned R-1 HC or R-3HC does not matter because all specific plans, including heights, would have to be submitted to the City before a use permit would be granted.

Jerome Blank, who served on the Citizens' Committee for Open Space questioned Ms. Lamphier, asked whether she meant vertical or horizontal control of rooftops. She said horizontal. She added that she recommended a 40 foot clearance for the view, meaning that no building could extend upward beyond 40 vertical feet of the ridge of the hill. The main area that would be affected, she pointed out, would be the west side because nothing can be done about existing property.

In response to a question by Turner inquiring if the limitation would go all the way to San Francisco, she suggested the area within 50 feet of the ridge line. Turner said the exact area must be defined.

Councilman Joe Carlevaro wondered about possible effect of the height limitation on the Albany Isles plan. City Attorney Lawrence Saler said he did not believe it would affect waterfront development.

Ms. Lamphier said the Albany Isles are listed as "potential open space because much of it is now under water and does not exist."

Blank read the goals and objectives of the Open Space Plan, asking if there would be any change in the basic goals. He encouraged early development of the Albany Isles as well as taking a good look at Albany's size, population, economic potential and tax rate. He said he disagreed that Albany should own the whole piece of land on top of Albany Hill, adding that if only the top were preserved, there would be space available for a beautiful development of single family homes costing $80-$100,000, putting valuable land back on the tax rolls.

"Since you regulate the size of homes on each piece of property, you'll have open space anyway at the homeowners' expense," Blank said. "You can't erode the tax base. Suppose the Federal Environmental Protection Agency levies a $450 tax per parking space on Golden Gate Fields in 1975. It would mean closing the race track and the loss of a big-tax-paying industry to Albany."

He recommended adoption of the Duncan and Jones report with the changes outlined earlier.

Bert Hartman said, in response to Blank, that nobody was advocating the purchase of a lot of expensive property on Albany Hill, only two acres at the top, which she called "an outstanding natural resource." She recommended designating the area known as Oak Forest on the Hill as potential open space. Mrs. Hartman asked Ms. Lamphier to explain the difference in the two maps which were on display.

The planner said that after eight hearings, the plan developed several months ago was changed to eliminate school areas, Golden Gate Fields, St. Mary's high school, etc., as not appropriate to an open space plan.

Louis Bell congratulated those involved in coming up with the new plan for "listening to the people and doing a lot of work in the past two weeks." He said state funds might be available to help preserve open space, suggested giving some sort of open space designation to Oak Forest.

Councilman Carlevaro asked if property with an open space designation would yield the same taxes. Saler said as far as assessed valuation is concerned, if the property has the same use, it would have the same value; in fact, could be enhanced.

Jim Ganong asked what would happen to the shoreline north of the "dump" (corrected by councilmen to "sanitary landfill"), wondering about access. Turner said access is provided in the Albany Isles Plan.

Ralph Buckwalter asked how many people will climb the hill for open space.

When the public hearing was closed, Councilman Carlevaro said there is much to be clarified and moved that Council action be held over until the meeting of Dec. 26. Turner said there would be a written report ready for the meeting. Councilman George Hein reminded the others their session of the General Plan must be passed before the end of the year. Mayor Lewis Howell said he hoped there would be a full council for the Dec. 26 meeting. Councilman Richard Clark was not present Monday night.

In other matters Council: REFERRED to the Chief of Police an application of Gene M. Jones for transfer of off-sale beer and wine at the 711 Food store; to the City Attorney and Insurance carrier, a claim against the city by Willie F. Butler, and to the Health Officer, a communication regarding the long-range master plan for Herick Hospital.

FILED a letter from Jean Rutherford asking Council proceed with plans for the waterfront.

HEARD a report on the status of suits involving the waterfront development by Saler. He said the first brought by Bay Conservation and Development Commission was won by the City and dropped after being resolved by the legislature; the second, by the Save the Bay group, lay dormant for five years and under Code mandate was dismissed, and the third, the city vs. the State Lands Commission concerning development within 10 years, is still going on. Councilman Carlevaro said we could use the Albany Isles with the gas shortage and Councilman Hein said it would be one of Albany's greatest open spaces if it could be developed.

GOOD OF THE CITY — Meniketti questioned newspaper reports of a deed of easement giving Albany Lions club access to the ground where the cross stands, asking what it signified. Councilman H. F. Call, who granted the easement, said the cross has been moved 4 times and the action means it will be there permanently. His second subject was BART management. He asked Councilmen to try to do something about firing the managers, adding that BART "could be one of the biggest boondoggles in the history of railroading."

Robert Elliott said City Council minutes should reflect who spoke for and who spoke against various topics. Mayor Howell defended the minutes, telling Elliott if he wants to hear himself, he can come to City Hall and listen to tapes. Addressing himself to Saler, Elliott said Government Code 1121 enables citizens to request the City Attorney to get any gains or profits for the purchase of any property involving a government official and place them in trust.

"I ask the City Attorney to do this. If not, I'll go to the California Attorney General," Elliott threatened.

Carlevaro and Elliott discussed the request for a few moments, when Mayor Howell moved on to the next speaker.

MERRY CHRISTMAS—Mayor Howell, speaking on behalf of the Council, wished a Merry Christmas to all citizens of Albany. Meniketti concluded the meeting by wishing all city officials, employees and citizens the same.
